

Croner-i Health & Safety Hazardous Substances

- Advanced Engineering Ltd -

Advanced Engineering Ltd is a chemical manufacturer and blender that formulates, manufactures, and consigns over 110 different chemical products.

As the company's technical director, Colin Pratt has a lot of responsibility. Mistakes with chemicals can have serious consequences, and with 60% of their trade going into Europe, Colin and his colleagues have concerns about how Brexit may impact regulations.

He needs to keep up-to-date with any changing rules as they happen – and that's where Croner-i comes in.

With our service, Colin has access to daily news, a complete chemical database, and full legislation around substances, along with expert insight on how to follow it all. Rules concerning ADR, CLP, and COSHH are covered, from general trade down to packaging and consigning. We even have a topic dedicated to questions around Brexit.

Colin said:

“A lot of the legal compliance knowledge I've gained over the years has come from Croner-i – it's my main source of legal compliance and legal updates.”

“We've got the same legal framework to work within as companies who employ 100,000 people – but there's only me. It's really only the information we get from Croner-i that keeps us in touch with what's changing.”

“Croner-i takes the time and effort to learn what's going on, and gives us bitesize updates presented in an easy way.”

Colin also receives our weekly e-alerts, which keep him in the loop about any upcoming changes.

He said: “For the little changes in legislation, it's the critical email on Monday that tips me off... I don't have time to proactively find information, but getting it presented through the emails is really useful.”

Best of all, Croner-i gives him everything he needs in one place.

Testimonial

Croner-i is the only broad brush update that covers a whole load of stuff, from HR through to CLP.
