

Managerial Courses

In today's high technology environment, Security Managers are becoming increasingly dependent on their knowledge of modern electronic systems.

Protection of an organisation's premises, stock, personnel and valuable intellectual properties from the effects of crime and accident are just some of the responsibilities faced by every Security Manager.

Terrorist threats and industry regulation add more pressures and make professional systems training vitally important.

Every year, growing numbers of Security Managers turn to us for our top quality tuition and the prestigious, globally recognised qualifications they now need.

At a glance ... our Security Management courses:

- Managing Security (SEC 1)
- Project Management (SEC 2)
- Managing Technology (SEC 3)
- Managing Disaster Recovery (SEC 4)
- Security Consultancy (SEC 5)
- Managing Investigations (SEC 6)
